DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

- a. Group I: Claims 1, 11, 2, 3, 12, and 13.
- b. Group II: Claims 1, 11, 4, and 14.
- c. Group III: Claims 1, 11, 5, and 15.
- d. Group IV: Claims 1, 11, 6, 7, 8, 16, 17, and 18.
- e. Group V: Claims 1, 11, 9, and 19.
- f. Group VI: Claims 1, 11, 10, and 20.

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1 and 11 are generic.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

2. Inventions I through VI are directed to related products. The related inventions are distinct if the (1) the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect; (2) the inventions do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; and (3) the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants. See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, the inventions as claimed have a materially different mode of operation:

a. Group I is distinct from Groups II – VI in that Group I claims 1) an armature plate, 2) an end of the central support body facing the electromagnet, 3) a drive shaft at the end facing the electromagnet, 4) armature plate disposed at the end of the drive shaft, and 5) the armature plate as connected to the drive shaft by a connection selected from the group consisting of an adhesive bond, a weld, a press-fit, and a screw connection.

b. Group II is distinct from Groups III – VI in that Group II claims 1) the pressure sensor defining a cup-shaped recess, 2) the central support body having a cylindrical end remote from the electromagnet, 3) the cylindrical end having a surface remote from the electromagnet, 4) the cylindrical end projecting into the cup-shaped recess to form a gap between the recess and the surface, and 5) the gap fluidically connecting the inlet passage to the outlet passage.

Art Unit: 3746

- c. Group III is distinct from Groups IV – VI in that Group III claims 1) the support body having a flange, 2) the second side of the pump diaphragm fixedly connected to the flange, and 3) the first side fixedly connected to the pump casing.
- d. Group IV is distinct from Groups V and VI in that Group IV claims the casing made of a metallic material having high thermal conductivity and the casing made of aluminum.
- e. Group V is distinct from Group VI in that Group V claims the spring as disposed between the base and the central support body.

Furthermore, the inventions as claimed do not encompass overlapping subject matter and there is nothing of record to show them to be obvious variants.
